12 March 1967

Dear Harold,

A minor mystery solved: Re: your comments on page 205 of Whitewash II, paragraph 8 ("Mrs. Kennedy seems to have been recoutured..."), it turns out that the fluffy large collar is an optical illusion. It is really the plastic shield on the motorcycle to Mrs. K's left rear. This became apparent last night when a guest and I were looking at a large blow-up of Willis slide no. 5, thanks to the keen eye of my friend.

Nothing much is new since we spoke last Monday. Rather, last Tuesday. Warm regards,

Hastily,

Sylvia